BARLOW TRAPS JAILBEAKER IN CANTON HOME

A. A. Baker Enjoys 12 Hours' Liberty After Escape.

DUNGEON CELL

Sheriff Hints Charges of "Hiding Criminal" Against Two.

Charges of "hiding a criminal" may be preferred against two persons as an aftermath of the recapture of A. A. Baker, 29, of Wellsville, who escaped from the Columbiana county jail at Lisbon early Saturday morning, it was declared today by Sheriff William J. Barlow.

Found Hiding in Cellar.

Less than 12 hours after Baker, who is believed to have had outside aid, sawed four bars and removed a screen from a window of the basement "bullpen" of the jail, he was back in a cell.

Baker, who is on a bread and water diet in the dungeon at Lisbon today, was trapped in the home of his sister, Mrs. Pearl Martin, 1447 Cleveland avenue S. W., Canton, Saturday afternoon by Barlow and Chief of Police John H. Fultz of Wellsville. They were accompanied by Patrolman West of the Canton police force.

According to the sheriff, he and his aides were refused permission to the Martin home. They then pried open a window in order to make a search. They found Baker hiding under old furniture in the cellar.

Awaits Grand Jury Action.

Besides Mrs. Martin, her stepson, Charles Martin, 17, was in the Canton home when the sheriff's posse captured Baker, who is awaiting grand jury action on a charge of abandonment, offered no resistance.

Barlow said his investigation indicated that friends had assisted Baker to make his getaway. Footprints were in the soft ground outside the jail window. Barlow suspects the bars on the windows were cut by the outsider.

Must the War Come?

BRITAIN, France and Uncle Sam are working to prevent war between Russia and China. Meanwhile the war spirit grows, as usual, each nation telling how little it fears the other, Russia, according to late reports, capturing small towns across the Manchurian border.

THIS country, having no diplomatic relations with Russia, is at a disadvantage in suggesting mediation. Secretary Stimson is obliged to tell Britain, of France, what he thinks, Britain replying to it.

A HOPEFUL sign is a manly and apparently sincere talk by Jan Rudzutak, most powerful man in Russia, next to Stalin.

A Lettish working man, who spent 10 years in czarist prisons, Rudzutak, head of Russian railroads, and interested in China's seizure of the Manchurian road, assures correspondents that Russia will not start a great war on account of private or public property.

He declares that Russia will not fight, unless invaded.

THE Russian masses may have something to say about that. The assumption that the big crowd, killed in war, is always led to war against its will, is a mistake. The crowd usually howls for war, until the draft is announced—then some lose enthusiasm.

FORTUNATELY, the Chinese nation is the most peaceful on earth. If Soviet rulers really desire to avert war, which their nation could hardly afford just now, there is good chance of avoiding one international crime.

THIS nation, at all events, has no excuse for mixing in the war. In all Manchuria, where the war would be centered, there is but one American concession, with only $2,000,000 invested. Our generous government would spend more than that sending cables back and forth, about wonderful things to be done.

And if we once started mobilizing our noble dollar a year "patrioters," we should be in the war for billions, before we knew it.

GERMANY'S new boat, Bremen, is breaking all sea records, taking the ocean record from the British. That will mean work for Britain's shipyards.

Mussolini was at work already on Italian ships to beat the Bremen, not waiting for the test.

TWO CONVICTS ARE SLAIN IN PRISON REVOLT

Two Guards Wounded In Outbreak in New York.

SHOP IS FIRED

Federal and State Troops Called to Quell Riot.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 22.—Two prisoners were shot dead, two guards were wounded and the carpenter shop was destroyed by fire when 1,000 convicts at Clinton prison at Dannemora, 20 miles from Plattsburg, revolted today and made an unsuccessful attempt at a general prison delivery.

Shortly after noon state prison officials announced they had received word from Warden Harry M. Kaiser that the "situation was in hand."

"TOUGH BIRDS" AT DANNEMORA

ALBANY, N. Y., July 22.—(INS.)—Clinton prison at Dannemora is the penal institution in which only the most hardened and unmanageable criminals are confined.

It is regarded with terror throughout the underworld everywhere.

Prisoners who continue to act "tough" after withstanding the rigors of Sing Sing and other institutions are invariably sentenced to spend the remainder of their terms in Clinton.

Before the rioting was quelled, however, a detachment of federal army soldiers from Plattsburg and between 50 and 75 state troopers had been rushed to the prison.

The authorities started while the prisoners were marching out of the mass hall after they had finished their breakfast.

In five minutes, according to word received by state prison officials at Albany, the prisoners were rioting in the prison yard, fighting among themselves and with the guards.

Situation is Serious

For a few minutes, there was every indication of a general prison delivery.

Warden Harry Kaiser, realizing the situation was serious, telephoned to the Plattsburg barracks for a detachment of soldiers. He also telephoned the state prison department which in turn asked the state police headquarters.

THREE NABBED AFTER AUTO CHASE

CINCINNATI, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Speeding away in a stolen automobile in an attempt to evade police, three youths, Fred Smith, 18, John Smith, 17, and Donald Roa, 16, were arrested early today by a county patrolman, after a 60-mile-an-hour chase for a few miles near Cleves.

They admitted that they were speeding from the Midwest Barbecue, three miles west of Cleves, which they had held up and robbed. Patrolman Wiley forced them over to the curb after the chase, and searched the car. He found cigars, cigarettes, and candy worth $150.

TRACK WALKER SHOT TO DEATH

Frank Dushase, 45, is Killed in Steubenville.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 22.—City and county officials today had no clue to the identity of the person who last night shot and killed Frank Dushase, 45, track walker on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, whose body was found near his home with four bullet wounds in the head and body.

Dushase, who lived alone, was attacked as he was about to enter the house shortly before midnight, it is believed.

RUSSO-CHINESE PEACE LOOMS, BIG POWERS SAY

Manchurian Situation Obscured by Conflicting Reports.

INVASION DENIED

Russians on Chinese Side Of Border are Reported Arrested.

(By International News Service.)

While the big powers continued their efforts today to maintain peace in the Far East, the actual situation in Manchuria was obscured by conflicting reports from this isolated theater of rival Russo-Chinese interests.

Persistent reports received by International News Service that Soviet troops had invaded Manchuria, occupying the important towns of Manchuria and Pogranichnaya, were denied by Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, military governor of Manchuria, according to a Mukden dispatch received in London.

Chinese Foreign Minister C. T. Wang told International News Service in an exclusive interview that hopes are still maintained for a peaceful settlement of the troubles.

Excitement Along Frontier.

The Manchurian population is reported to be in a state of high excitement, and that this feeling has risen nearly to panic at some points along the Siberian-Manchurian frontier owing to aerial reconnaissance by Soviet air fleets.

The London Daily Herald published an unconfirmed report that all Russians over 16 years of age on the Chinese side of the Siberian border have been arrested and are being held "prisoners of war."

Status Quo Ante Request Hinted.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(INS.)—China may be asked by the powers to restore the status quo ante of the Chinese Eastern railway pending settlement of her dispute with Russia over its control and subsequent seizure.

Secretary of State Tammson declined today to comment on this possibility, but in diplomatic and official circles it was pointed out that in most international disputes, as well as domestic, it is customary to revert to the status quo ante prior to arbitration.

FACTORY BURNS, THREE MEN HURT

DAYTON, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Three firemen are today suffering from injuries which they sustained when the Gonderlilenssch box factory was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The firemen are expected to recover. Fire loss is estimated at approximately $50,000.

A fine of $2,000 and costs, one of the heaviest in the history of prohibition enforcement in Columbiana county, was meted out by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, presiding in probate court, Lisbon, today, when William Brown, an Elkton township farmer, pleaded guilty to a possession charge.

Brown was arrested after a raid on his farm near Elkton, Saturday afternoon, when Sheriff J. W. Barlow and Deputies James Elliott, George Harroff and David Eells unearthed 40 gallons of whiskey.

Contraband Buried in Lane.

The contraband, in two 15-gallon and one 10-gallon kegs, was found buried about six inches below the surface in a lane on the Brown farm.

The raid, according to Deputy Elliott, was an aftermath of hints that "You can't get Brown."

Brown spent the week-end in jail, and was remanded to jail today when his fine was not paid.

The prisoner was found guilty of another liquor charge three weeks ago.

Sheriff William Barlow was instructed by the court to remove barriers constructed across the road on the Calvin property.

Rush Work On Sixth Street Sewer Repair

City Forces to Have New Sanitary Piping Laid by Tonight; Old Pipe Buckles in Quick-sand.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 22. — Re- pairs to the sanitary sewer beneath

Sixth street upon which service department forces have been working almost night and day since Friday after the pipe had buckled in the quicksand, will be completed tonight, according to announcement by City Engineer R. D. McGill.

The sewer provides drainage for a large area from Fifth street to Ninth street.

While the repair operations are under way, a pump is being used to keep the drainage system in operation. Service department employees were forced to dig to a depth of approximately 14 feet into a quicksand composition which made cribbing and other similar operations difficult.

Three two-foot joints have been taken out and new pipe will be laid. The original pipe did not break but when it buckled, it became stopped up at the point, cutting off drainage.

OHIOANS HEAR PASTORS FROM WEST VIRGINIA

Chester and Newell Ministers at Methodist Church.

SUNDAY SERVICES

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart and Rev. W. E. Dean Preach.

The church of God is sadly in need of a revival, it was declared by the Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Chester, W. Va., at the First Methodist Episcopal church in East Liverpool when he spoke in the latter pulpit last night in the absence of the Rev. Dr. Warren O. Hawkins, the pastor, who is on his vacation.

In the morning service the place of the Rev. Dr. Hawkins was taken by the Rev. W. E. Dean, retired minister, of Newell, who spoke on "The Importance of Prayer."

Both services were featured by the singing of anthems by the choir, directed by the Rev. Charles R. Loney, the assistant pastor, "All For Thee" being the morning offering and "Crossing the Bar" that in the evening. Two solos were also sung at both services. Miss Blanche Rice, of Wellsburg, singing "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" in the morning, and Allen A. Burrows in the evening contributing "God's Tomorrow," by Ackley, a number frequently sung by Homer Rodeheaver here during the Billy Sunday revival last fall. Mrs. T. C. Flick was the accompanist.

North East, Pa., Pastor to Preach. The Rev. Mr. Loney presided at both services and introduced the visiting ministers.

He announced the coming to the church next Sunday of the Rev. J. W. Thompson of North East, Pa., for the morning sermon and also the fact that the evening would be devoted to a sacred service of song in which a choir from the Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist church, assisted by a quartet from

MOORE FUNERAL RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for William Moore, 49, who died Saturday in his home, south of Hookstown, Pa., will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of the Rev. W. T. McCandless, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Mill Creek cemetery. Besides his wife, he leaves his mother and one sister, Mrs. Denver George of Burbank, O.

Visiting in Pittsburgh. The Rev. William T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is a business visitor today in Pittsburgh.

Review Board Completes Work. Board of equalization and review which has been in session at New Cumberland the greater part of the month has concluded its work of hearing protests of tax assessments.

County Commissioners Meet. Plans for the road bond issue election Saturday in Butler district were completed today at a special meeting of the county court at New Cumberland.

Pastor Gives Special Sermon. The Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, delivered the third in a series of special sermons yesterday morning on "That Flaming Youth Falls for the World." Last night he spoke in the First Methodist Episcopal church, East Liverpool.

Wellsburg, would be in charge of the music.

The Rev. Mr. Ehrheart spoke on "Running Like Wild Beasts" in referring to the need of a revival. "We are having a series of union meetings in Chester during the summer Sunday evenings," he announced. "There will be some who will not come back when this interim is over. We need to follow the advice of Isaiah to 'awake, awake, put on strength.'"

He said the situation was much like that of a farmer finding that his hogs escaped daily from their pen. He observed that they crawled out by means of a crooked log. He reversed the log and the next time they attempted to escape they went out only to return inside again, the bent arrangement not getting them fully outside as formerly.

Cites Lack of Spiritual Food. "We are running about like wild beasts," he observed, "and but for the kindness of God would be permitted to stay outside."

He noted the lack in churches of spiritual food and affirmed that warm weather conditions could be adjusted the better by work rather than by a tendency to let down in religious activities at this time. "If we continue to do things for God there will not be the necessity for characterizing our actions frequently as that in which we are running about wildly."

"Do you prefer your own to God's way?" he asked. "Are you selfish? We can have a return of the sweet peace of God by obeying His commands. We need not remain in a condition that some hold as lost and on our way to hell. We can renew our spiritual conditions."

Methodist Protestant. "You do not love the Lord Jesus Christ unless you love the word of God for His name is the word of God," declared the Rev. G. F. Hoff, of Oakland, Calif., yesterday morning while filling the pulpit of the First Methodist Protestant church, Jackson street, during the vacation absence of the pastor, the Rev. John F. Dimit.

His subject was "The Word of God." Announcement was made that the annual picnic of the Sunday school will be held at Thompson park on Tuesday, July 30.

W. Bowman, of the board of stewards introduced the visiting minister. He announced that the prayer meeting on Wednesday evening would be led by Joel Taylor.

Before going to California, the Rev. Mr. Huff had been a member of the First Methodist Protestant Sunday School orchestra.

"Though I played music in your Sunday school for some time I was not really a believer and was inclined to infidelity despite my efforts to acquire a soundness of faith," he said. "It was not until 1918 when I lost a three-year-old child following which I began to wonder if I should ever see him again that I followed a ministerial suggestion to pray and study God's word and, above all, to believe it, that I found the light. I know now what the power of the word of God will do in the regeneration. I have experienced and I commend this word to you and everybody."

From Revelations he took his text, "His Name Is Called the Word of God."

"This word of life was real to John, the author of Revelations," he said. "He knew what all redeemed persons know that the Father and the Son will come and make their abode in the individual soul. God's precepts are sure, stable, strong; they do not change or become modernized."

Rev. Dr. Lawther Plans Vacation. In anticipation of his vacation which will begin on August 1, the Rev. J. H. Lawther, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has announced that the following ministers will fill his pulpit during his absence: August 4, the Rev. R. L. Hutchinson, Southside church of Pittsburgh; Aug. 11, the Rev. J. Millen Robinson, D.D., Valley View church, Pittsburgh; Aug. 18, the Rev. A. O. Hjerpe, South Shore church, Chicago; Aug. 25, the Rev. Akron Lady Now Able To Be Out After Being Confined At Home 5 Months With Rheumatism

Mrs. T. J. Wilson, Victim of Chronic Rheumatism For Years, Was Confined in Her Home for 5 Long Months — Swollen Ankles and Feet Prevented Her From Wearing Shoes.

Doctors and Other Medicines Failed — Emaciated and Rundown She Took a Course of "ORANGE ROOT" as a Last Resort, and Today Is Able to Be Out; Swellings All Reduced, and Is Free of All Aches and Pains.

"This ORANGE ROOT" has performed a miracle for me," says Mrs. T. J. Wilson, wife of the well-known building contractor, residing at 95 Bruer avenue, Akron, Ohio. She continues "Rheumatism has been the bane of my life. I have suffered with it for years. My arms and limbs ached so painfully that I could not sleep at night. All day long I suffered constant misery. I doctored and took all kinds of medicine, but only became worse. I began to think that I was destined to be an invalid all the remaining days of my life. For the past five months I have been unable to get out of the house. The swelling in my ankles and feet necessitated my keeping off my feet. My whole system seemed full of aches and life did not seem worth while.

Reading in the papers where so many local folks were being benefited by this ORANGE ROOT, I decided to take a course of it myself, as I felt that if it did not help me, it surely would not do me any harm. To my surprise and amazement, after I had taken only part of a bottle, I noticed the misery letting up and my strength coming back. It is remarkable how quickly all the swelling in my ankles and feet went away, and all soreness and aches disappeared. I have taken three bottles now and a few of those golden Nuggets, and can truthfully say, that I AM FREE OF RHEUMATISM AT LAST. It is nothing in the world but a MIRACLE, and I am one thankful person today. I put my shoes on and took a walk outside today, the first time I have BEEN OUT OF THE HOUSE IN FIVE MONTHS. Even my appetite is better, for I am hungry all the time, and everything I eat agrees with me, for I have gained several pounds in weight during the past 3 weeks. I sleep soundly all night, and get up in the mornings feeling like I did when I was a young girl. My whole system has been strengthened and vitalized, for I do not ever get tired any more. This ORANGE ROOT is simply wonderful, and I advise all ailing women to take it, whether they have rheumatism or not, for it certainly does banish fatigue and strengthens one up. If you are all rundown, nervous, rheumatic, have neuritis, indigestion or kidney complaint, lack strength and feel all-in and worn out all the time, for heaven's sake, snap out of it, go at once to MATHEW'S MEDICINE STORE, where hundreds of bottles are sold each week, get 3 or 4 bottles of the tonic, a box of the golden Nugget, take them faithfully for a few days, and you, too, will soon see a marvelous improvement in your condition. It has helped thousands, and will do the same for you. Prices: TONIC, $1.25; Nuggets, 50c. Add 10c extra for parcel post charges if your local druggist cannot supply you.

Avoid Traffic Congestion

East Liverpool's new traffic regulations, adopted with a two-fold purpose of decreasing accidents and eliminating congestion in downtown zones, become effective today with the operation of additional red-and-green signal lights at the Dresden avenue and St. Clair avenue intersections of Sixth street.

The plan, which provides for two-way travel on the east and west sides of the police tower in the Diamond and bans left turns at many corners, has been approved by the traffic commission. It is in many respects an experiment, for the safety department realizes that the bottle neck arrangement of the triangle zone in Market street between Fifth and Sixth streets may not permit four lanes of traffic.

Motorists should co-operate with the police department in their efforts to find a solution for the problem offered by the heavy traffic through the Diamond and along Sixth and Fifth streets and Dresden and St. Clair avenues. And one way to do this is to avoid "auto parading" which is a common practice on the part of many drivers.

And the situation would be relieved if some plan for a more equitable distribution of traffic were adopted.
Since the opening of the East Liverpool-Youngstown highway, undoubtedly Columbiana county's best road, it has been a mecca for motorists. Irrespective of the destination, drivers will use this road on northbound trips, thus escaping the Lisbon street hill. However, there is no good excuse for not traversing the Lincoln highway on the southbound trip.

Improvement of the East Liverpool-East Palestine road, which is now under way, should also divert no small part of the traffic from the No. 7 route, and it is not improbable that many Canton and Carrollton district motorists, who now enter East Liverpool over the Lincoln highway and part of the Youngstown road, will travel via Salineville and Wellsville when the Carrollton end of this artery of transportation is completed.

Let's co-operate to avoid traffic congestion.

Tough Hombres

The quality of toughness, more than many others, is relative. You are tough until someone else shows up that is a little bit tougher and then there must either be improvement or obscurity.

One of the first statements made by Aviators Mitchell and Newcomb when they landed at the Cleveland airport after having broken the previous record established by two plucky fliers in Texas was that they were ready and anxious to go out after any better record that might be established after theirs. They were pretty hardened individuals right at that moment and their endurance was respected mightily.

Two aviators flying over Culver field in California, stayed aloft 246 hours. They had expected to stay up for 300 hours. These two gentlemen, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhardt, are self-styled "tough hombres."
They are nail-biters and wildcat fighters of the first class.

Their remarkable endurance feat was accomplished in a plane whose engine had already lasted through 450 hours of flying service and neither pilot had had any outstanding previous experience to qualify him for work. But the "Angeleno" was worked over carefully by the ambitious pair and it is a safe bet that when they passed the 200-hour mark they eliminated two-thirds of all future competition. Future aspirants may rig out dozens of splendid equipped endurance outfits before they equal the record of a second hand biplane, merely because of that matter of "toughness."

Restored To Active Duty

It is safe to predict that the restoration of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder to the active list of the navy and placing him in command of the fleet base at San Diego, California, will meet with general approval.
This prediction is not based upon the conviction that the rear admiral was altogether without offending in the matter which caused him to be relieved from active duty, but rather upon the conviction that the American people have for months felt that he was dealt with unfairly in the manner of his removal from active duty.
His flagship was taken from him without court-martial or without his removal from the promotion or pay rolls and he was placed on "waiting orders"—a very unusual instance in the history of our navy for one of his rank.

It is conceivable that one unfit for the place he occupied, but against whom a charge of unfitness was recognized as difficult of proof, probably might have been treated thus, but there was a decided feeling that a naval officer with a record such as his—a distinguished one—should not have been thus treated.

Magruder was graduated from the Naval academy in 1880 when 22 years old, and during the Spanish-American war he was advanced five numbers in the rank files for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle."
During the early days of America's participation in the World war he served as chief of staff of the United States patrol squadron in France. Early in 1918 he was appointed district commander of L'Orient, which post he held until the armistice. He was appointed temporary rear admiral in April, 1920, and received the permanent rank in June, 1921.

In November of 1927, following the publication of certain articles written by him in a well-known magazine, he was relieved of active duty by the navy department high command for the reason that the articles were considered by officials to have been critical of naval policies and administration.

At the time Secretary Wulbur stated that the rear admiral's punishment was "not punitive, but administrative." In other words, the then secretary probably meant to say that the rear admiral was not to be punished for telling the truth, but was retired from active duty because it was against the policy of the administration to tell it.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—The building business, although going forward in tremendous volume, nevertheless betrays a certain spottiness, the checks and halts apparently being due in many sections to a lack of adequate financing facilities. This has induced real estate experts to incline to the view that the country will undergo a revolution in the matter of sources of funds for construction of private properties.
From the beginning of an organized construction industry, structures from skyscrapers to single dwelling houses have been mainly financed through the first mortgage with, in many if not most cases, junior mortgages.

The change which has been forecast will be to the type of financing employed by industrial corporations; that is, issues of preferred stock. Huge concerns will engage solely in the business of handling such issues.
In effect they will be building banks. Preferred stock will be sold to the public at large and the proceeds lent to those desiring to build.

The lack of building capital to be lent on first mortgages to prospective builders is regarded as one of the concomitants of the wave of stock speculation which has been passing over the country for the three or four years last past and which has caused members of congress to animadvert harshly upon the New York Exchange and its stock brokers. It has been claimed that adequate capital for such legitimate and deserving enterprises as the building of houses is short because the gambling instinct has diverted too much money into speculative channels.

So the remedy proposed is for the building industry to join in the business of issuing stocks and avail itself of a share of the flood of funds flowing into stocks.

The National Association of Real Estate boards has just completed its semi-annual survey of the building industry throughout the nation. The survey covers 379 cities—a broad enough basis to furnish a fair picture of the national situation. The survey shows the market to have been more active in 40 per cent of these cities and less active in 20 per cent, while the remaining proportions shows no change. In a country growing so rapidly as the United States, and especially the cities, a slowing up is indicated. More than half of the cities show that building has either stood still or actually gone backward.

Rents, too, were found to be up in only 17 per cent of the cities surveyed while they were lower in 27 per cent. These percentages refer to dwelling houses.
Apartment houses show higher rents in 18 per cent of the cities and lower rents in 17 per cent.

Although the acute shortage in housing caused by the war has been met, shortages, due to natural growth are shown in 21 per cent of the cities and overbuilding in 12 percent. These figures are approximately the same for both single dwelling houses and apartments.

So far as business property is concerned, office buildings and the like, 22 per cent of the cities show a shortage and 19 per cent overbuilding. High rents seem to have played some part here because rents were shown to be up in 40 per cent of the cities and down in only 8 per cent. This doubtless, is attributable to increased taxes, levied by municipalities. It will be remembered that President Harding and President Coolidge both warned the American public concerning the rising tax bill of states and cities and their tremendous load of bonded indebtedness.

New York City alone, obviously, stands out as its private building operations are equal in volume to those of scores of other cities combined. Contracts for new construction in June were 39 per cent below June—an astounding drop in such an era of expansion as the last year has been. Thirty per cent of this loss was in residential buildings, 17 in commercial buildings, and 13 in industrial buildings. Further, to show how definite the slowing up is, new projects announced have declined 58 per cent under a year ago.

The vast importance to the nation of such a situation is that the amount of money usually spent in a year on buildings has been in excess of $3,000,000,000.
It is thought that the public has concluded that it can not afford to buy hard houses unable to stand up in a breeze or endure frost, snow, and rain. In effect there appears to be a mild buyers' strike which may last until there is confident public belief that sounder structures will be erected.

Q. Is it possible for an airplane to make a climb so steep that it will kill the motor? J. W. K.

A. It is not possible. The motor will labor when it reaches its maximum altitude but it will not stop. The plane merely ceases to gain altitude.

Q. What kind of a horse is a plater? V. E. W.

A. A plater is a horse which runs chiefly in plate races. A plate race is one in which a prize is given to the winner, the contestants not making a stake.

Q. Does a boy have to finish high school before beginning to study law? S. J. W.

A. The American Bar Association, at the present time, requires, in addition to a high school education, a two year pre-law course and the requirements will probably be raised shortly to college degree previous to entering law school.

Q. At what season is the tide highest in the Bay of Fundy? H. A.

A. The tides of the Bay of Fundy are always high, but the highest tides occur in the spring and autumn.

Q. How old are the catacombs of Rome? E. A. P.

A.—They are long underground galleries which have existed certainly for over 2,000 years. They have excavations in the sides for tombs or in many cases ledges or niches in which human bones were stacked or piled.

Q. What is the Abraham Lincoln Foundation? N. C.

A. It is a movement toward the establishment of Abraham Lincoln University. It is planned to establish the university within the Metropolitan Area of New York City, in Westchester county. A scholarship endowment and building fund of $66,000,000 is to be raised.

NEW YORK Day By Day

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—No other city is so glibly for what the Los Angeles calls "the cult racket." It is paradise for the mental fadist or the health seepster. Indeed any sect spreading some new brand of mystic alracadabra is sure of a following.

Every variety of fortune teller, crystal gazer or religious prophet is hailed with a huzzah. They open salons along such Fifth avenue-like boulevards as Wilshire and their clientele is not recruited entirely from "below stairs"— but from the fashionable drawing-rooms.

Those who profess to know say the craze to pierce the veil of the future spawned among motion picture folk.
Every newcomer to the studios came hugging a Big Dream and was an easy mark for the charlatans who professed an ability to read the stars, coffee grounds or what have you.

People of prominence socially and financially out here will often confess with a guilty little giggle that they have just been to an astrological attention or some other haven of soothsay-ing endeavor. They do not believe it, they say. Still they continue to go from one to another.

As a result of this collective urge for mysticism the streets are dotted with queerly dressed characters. One sees the swarthy swami in turban and flowing robe, the long bearded shoeless and hatless John the Baptist with the burning eyes of the zealot, the unwashed pulpitier and the soap box ranters.

Most of the lesser lights in the fantastic make their rendezvous Pershing Square in the heart of the city. In the early morning or evening these odd and often cracked creatures blown from all corners of the earth gather and babble their isms.

They are harmless and never molested by the police. In the motley assortment, too, are hobo poets, seedy soldiers of fortune, trailers of revolutions and sundry other picturesque vagabonds who, touched by an incurable wanderlust, are always on the march.

Basil Woon is here to novelize the film folk—and all are welcoming him with open arms but a few are wrin-kling worried brows in private. Mr.

An unforgettable memory of Los ing through town with sirens wide

That suggests first aid for an acute reason at all will sing its praises.

One of the flourishing institutions

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Nothing can be much more comforting to its possessor than a clean, clear skin. Everybody wants it and seeks it.

Unfortunately there are many dis-casses of the skin. Perhaps the most common is the condition called "eczema," or "salt rheum."

Like any other inflammation of the skin, the first symptom of eczema is redness. Not only is the affected part always red, but under excitement, irritation from rubbing or scratching, exposure to heat, or violent exercise,
the redness is increased.

After a while little blisters form on the reddened skin. As these break, there is more or less moisture on the affected surface.

But the disease does not stop here.
It is not long before scales and crusts take the place of the blisters.

The affected part itches, especially when the redness is increased from any cause. At times the itching is almost unbearable.

It is difficult to tell the difference between simple inflammation of the skin, called "dermatitis," and true eczema. The former is due usually to some outside irritation of the skin.

No Compromise With Russia.

The Washington correspondent of the New York World, in a dispatch prominently displayed on the front page of that paper, says that President Hoover has indicated "to important industrial and banking interests" that this government "may reconsider the question of Russian recognition in the light of a rapidly-expanding trade with the soviet and the accordingly growing need of a diplomatic relationship."

It implies consideration on any other terms than those laid down with impressive finality by Hughes and Coolidge we do not believe the statement is true. The doorway for Russian recognition has been wide open for several years under the conditions named, which are: 1—The recognition of Russia's debt to the United States for money loaned the Kerensky government. 2—Compensation to Americans for property destroyed or confiscated by the soviet. 3—Termination of Communistic propaganda in the United States. No negotiations are needed. Russia has simply to accept the conditions and comply with them.

That being the case, any reconsid-eration, these conditions remaining unaccepted, must necessarily involve the modification or abandonment of the conditions. How can they be modified or abandoned? In each one of the conditions a fundamental principle of international good faith is at stake. It is not the amount of the debt or the amount of compensation that is at issue. America requires only that Russia formally recognize a national obligation which it has formally repudiated.
Similarly the efforts of soviet agencies to undermine the system of government in this country is a gross breach of a vital principle of international relations.

There can be no compromising of these principles. They are incapable of compromise. Nor can America, either in honor or expediency, abandon them. But it is intimated in this dispatch that considerations of trade may induce President Hoover to reopen the question of recognition. That is to intimate that he would barter principles for gain. We do not believe him capable of that. We are confident that he fully indorses the principles and is of the same mind as President Coolidge was when he said: "Our government does not propose to enter into relations with another regime which refuses to recognize the sanctity of international obligations. I do not propose to barter away for the privilege of trade any of the cherished rights of humanity. I do not propose to make merchandise of any American principle."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ROAD PROPOSED BY COMMISSIONERSPublic Hearing on Plans
For Improvement is Set For August 5.

LISBON, O., July 22.—A new road to be known as the North Georgetown-Valley-Salem highway will be built, it was announced today by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. A public hearing on the plans will be held here at 1 p. m., on August 5. All claims for damages must be filed with the commissioners before the time set for the hearing.

Property will be required from 15 owners along the proposed right of way in Butler and Perry townships. The new highway will begin at the end of the present concrete road at North Georgetown in Butler township and extend northeast to intersect with Roosevelt avenue, Salem, a distance of slightly less than five miles. While the grading and drainage structures may be completed this year, it is not likely that a concrete top will be given the road until next year. The present route from North Georgetown to Salem is north to Damascus, then east over the Cox highway.

COUNTY WHEAT CROP DOUBLED

Growers Report Record
Yield; Mills Pay
$1.20 Bushel.

LISBON, O., July 22.—Wheat crop in Columbiana county this season is nearly double that of 1928, with little, if any, increase in acreage, according to reports from growers. New wheat is now bringing $1.20 a bushel at Lisbon mills, and about 600 bushels of the new crop have been delivered.

The yield is said to average from 20 to 30 bushels an acre. Some growers who sold immediately after their yield was threshed received $1.10 a bushel.

Many growers last fall sowed certified seed. Practically all wheat grown in the county is sold to local mills.

YIELD OF WHEAT

LISBON, O., July 22.—Walter S. Ruff, with offices in the Harter Bank building, Canton, has filed an injunction action in common pleas court against Frank Weaver, of New Alex and, seeking to restrain Weaver from removing a yield of wheat from the Ruff farm.

Ruff leased the farm to Weaver on Sept. 8, 1928. The lease, which expired March 15, 1929, provided that straw and hay were to be left on the farm. Weaver now threatens to take the wheat chocks from the farm, it is charged. A temporary order has been granted against Weaver.

PARIS TAXI HORNS
BLOW TWO TONES

PARIS.—Paris taxi horns, long a distinguishing part of the voice of this great city, are about to become symphonic.

They will, at any rate, if the bill introduced by M. Georges Delanoit goes through.

M. Delanoit would have the horns in one or both of two tones. And the two tones would combine to form a perfect harmony.

DIX STARS AS
BRITISH CAPTAIN

The story of the second Richard Dix all-talking picture, "The Wheel of Life," based upon the successful stage play by James Bernard Fagan, was adapted for the screen by John Farrow, who did the adaptation or continuities of such screen hits as "Ladies of the Mob," "The Woman from Moscow," "Three Week Ends," "Wolf Song" and "A Dangerous Woman."

The action of "The Wheel of Life," which comes to the Ceramic theater for three days beginning today, shows Dix as Captain Yeullat, of the British service in India. A love affair develops between Yeullat and the young wife of his superior officer, an older man. Yeullat and the girl are parted when he gets a transfer to Tibet in order to prevent a scandal in the regiment. But they meet later when Dix goes to the rescue of British travelers who are besieged in an ancient Buddhist monastery high in the Himalayas.

The final is one of the most amazing climaxes in the history of dramatics, according to critics who viewed the production.

Esther Ralston plays the feminine lead, and O. P. Heggie, famous Broadway star, plays the role of the elderly colonel.

"MOTHER'S BOY"
AT AMERICAN

In keeping with the richness of their surroundings, the men and women who are seen in this delightful sequence, are top-notchers in their individual fields. Among the thirty couples seated at the tables were many professional models, well known to patrons of Fifth avenue modish shops, rich fur emporiums and night clubs in New York. Of the men, the faces of many are known to those who scan the advertisements for the dressiest collars, suits and overcoats. It is in this case that Tommy O'Day, who is his "Mother's Boy," formerly

COLMAN STARS
IN ROLE OF SEA

Using Joseph Conrad's masterpiece, "The Rescue," as the vehicle for his first appearance as an individual star for Samuel Goldwyn, Ronald Colman appears before his public in a new light in "The Rescue," which opened at the State theater today. The hero of "Beau Geste" and "Two Lovers" now has a role of the sea and desperate intrigue among the natives of the Malay archipelago. Herbert Brown, the same director who made Colman in "Beau Geste," wielded the megaphone for this United Artists picture, and Lily Damita, Samuel Goldwyn's new French find, plays opposite Colman as the beautiful Mrs. Travers.

There is every opportunity for beauty of setting and matchless drama in the plot of "The Rescue." In the midst of Captain Tom Lingard's lawless affair of honor involving the throne of a Mayan prince, blundered an English yacht, fatefully stranded in the midst of what was to be the dark theater of war. Of the three white passengers, only the owner's wife understood the situation and Lingard. On him fell the decision—to save the whites and ruin his enterprise—or let the natives have their way with them and fulfill his debt to the Mayan prince.

And love! To Lingard this woman—imperfectly civilized—her husband said—came as the first blinding flash of all woman could mean to man. Integrity—the duty of a white to his countryman in the South Seas, the never-broken word of King Tom to a native. His whole career—and this woman. The inevitable climax of "The Rescue" is unquestionable.

Ronald Colman is said to have never appeared to better advantage than as the daring wanderer of the sea—"King Tom," in this thrilling, romantic drama.

"Mother's Boy"

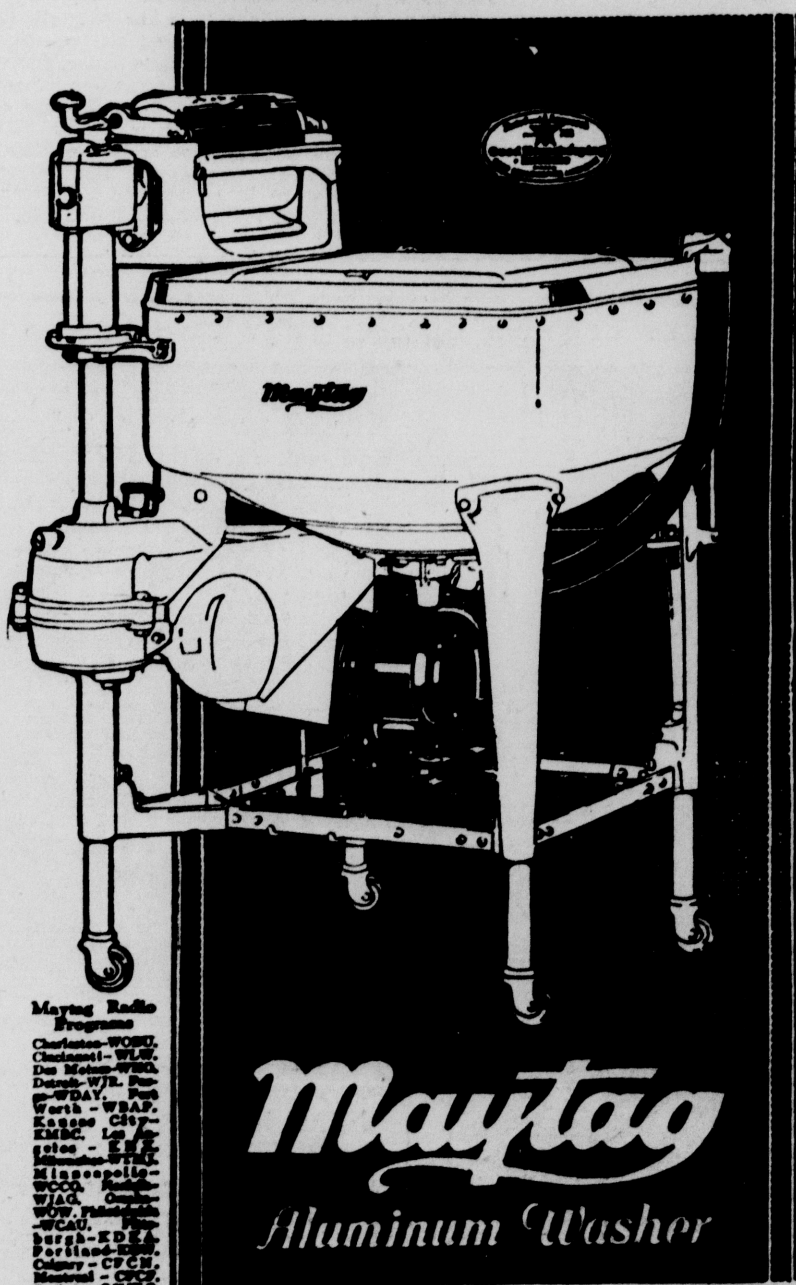

MORTON DOWNEY, brilliant young singer known professionally as "Broadway's Golden Voiced Tenor," has achieved an ambition of his life. He has just finished a starring role in the movies as "lead" in Pathe's "Mother's Boy," all-singing and all-talking picture. "Mother's Boy" was produced at Sound Studios, Inc., in New York by Robert T. Kane.

Downey has been a sensation at his Club Casanova this season. Critics have described him as the most gifted Irish tenor since John McCormack's debut. He is a popular Victor recording artist and completed a leading role in RKO's "Syncope" before making "Mother's Boy."

Downey's first production for Pathe was taken from Gene Markey's original story and is a full length musical feature with the star singing throughout songs of the "jazz" and sentimental variety.

The new film star is a discovery of Paul Whiteman, with whose famous organization he sang for four years. With Whiteman he featured in the "Rhapsody in Blue" and a program of all-American music. Later he studied voice in Europe and sang in London and Paris.

Downey was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was brought up by "Jimmie" Hagan, the Tammany leader. He recently married Barbara Bennett, screen actress and daughter of Richard Bennett.

Avoid Traffic Congestion

East Liverpool's new traffic regulations, adopted with a two-fold purpose of decreasing accidents and eliminating congestion in downtown zones, become effective today with the operation of additional red-and-green signal lights at the Dresden avenue and St. Clair avenue intersections of Sixth street.

The plan, which provides for two-way travel on the east and west sides of the police tower in the Diamond and bans left turns at many corners, has been approved by the traffic commission. It is in many respects an experiment, for the safety department realizes that the bottle neck arrangement of the triangle zone in Market street between Fifth and Sixth streets may not permit four lanes of traffic.

Motorists should co-operate with the police department in their efforts to find a solution for the problem offered by the heavy traffic through the Diamond and along Sixth and Fifth streets and Dresden and St. Clair avenues. And one way to do this is to avoid "auto parading" which is a common practice on the part of many drivers.

And the situation would be relieved if some plan for a more equitable distribution of traffic were adopted. Since the opening of the East Liverpool-Youngstown highway, undoubtedly Columbiana county's best road, it has been a mecca for motorists. Irrespective of the destination, drivers will use this road on northbound trips, thus escaping the Lisbon street hill. However, there is no good excuse for not traversing the Lincoln highway on the southbound trip.

Improvement of the East Liverpool-East Palestine road, which is now under way, should also divert no small part of the traffic from the No. 7 route, and it is not improbable that many Canton and Carrollton district motorists, who now enter East Liverpool over the Lincoln highway and part of the Youngstown road, will travel via Salineville and Wellsville when the Carrollton end of this artery of transportation is completed.

Let's co-operate to avoid traffic congestion.

Tough Hombres

The quality of toughness, more than many others, is relative. You are tough until someone else shows up that is a little bit tougher and then there must either be improvement or obscurity.

One of the first statements made by Aviators Mitchell and Newcomb when they landed at the Cleveland airport after having broken the previous record established by two plucky fliers in Texas was that they were ready and anxious to go out after any better record that might be established after theirs. They were pretty hardened individuals right at that moment and their endurance was respected mightily.

Two aviators flying over Culver field in California, stayed aloft 246 hours. They had expected to stay up for 300 hours. These two gentlemen, L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart, are self-styled "tough hombres." They are nail-biters and wildcat fighters of the first class.

Their remarkable endurance feat was accomplished in a plane whose engine had already lasted through 450 hours of flying service and neither pilot had had any outstanding previous experience to qualify him for work. But the "Angelino" was worked over carefully by the ambitious pair and it is a safe bet that when they passed the 200-hour mark they eliminated two-thirds of all future competition. Future aspirants may rig out dozens of splendidly equipped endurance outfits before they equal the record of a second hand biplane, merely because of that matter of "toughness."

Restored To Active Duty

It is safe to predict that the restoration of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder to the active list of the navy and placing him in command of the feet base at San Diego, California, will meet with general approval. This prediction is not based upon the conviction that the rear admiral was altogether without offending in the matter which caused him to be relieved from active duty, but rather upon the conviction that the American people have for months felt that he was dealt with unfairly in the manner of his removal from active duty. His flagship was taken from him without court-martial or without his removal from the promotion or pay rolls and he was placed on "waiting orders"—a very unusual instance in the history of our navy for one of his rank.

It is conceivable that one unfit for the place he occupied, but against whom a charge of unfitness was recognized as difficult of proof, probably might have been treated thus, but there was a decided feeling that a naval officer with a record such as his—a distinguished one—should not have been thus treated.

Magruder was graduated from the Naval academy in 1880 when 22 years old, and during the Spanish-American war he was advanced five numbers in the rank files for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle." During the early days of America's participation in the World war he served as chief of staff of the United States patrol squadron in France. Early in 1918 he was appointed district commander of L'Orient, which post he held until the armistice. He was appointed temporary rear admiral in April, 1920, and received the permanent rank in June, 1921.

In November of 1927, following the publication of certain articles written by him in a well-known magazine, he was relieved of active duty by the navy department high command for the reason that the articles were considered by officials to have been critical of naval policies and administration.

At the time Secretary Wulbur stated that the rear admiral's punishment was "not punitive, but administrative." In other words, the then secretary probably meant to say that the rear admiral was not to be punished for telling the truth, but was retired from active duty because it was against the policy of the administration to tell it.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—The building business, although going forward in tremendous volume, nevertheless betrays a certain spotiness, the checks and balances apparently being due in many sections to a lack of adequate financing facilities. This has induced real estate experts to incline to the view that the country will undergo a revolution in the matter of sources of funds for construction of private properties.

From the beginning of an organized construction industry, structures from skyscrapers to single dwelling houses have been mainly financed through the first mortgage with, in many if not most cases, junior mortgages.

The change which has been forecast will be in the type of financing employed by industrial corporations; that is, issues of preferred stock. Huge concerns will engage solely in the business of handling such issues. In effect they will be building banks. Preferred stock will be sold to the public at large and the proceeds lent to those desiring to build.

The lack of building capital to be lent on first mortgages to prospective builders is regarded as one of the concomitants of the wave of stock speculation which has been passing over the country for the three or four years last past and which has caused members of congress to animadvert harshly upon the New York Exchange and its stock brokers. It has been claimed that adequate capital for such legitimate and deserving enterprises as the building of houses is short because the gambling instinct has diverted too much money into speculative channels.

So the remedy proposed is for the building industry to join in the business of issuing stocks and avail itself of a share of the flood of funds flowing into stocks.

The National Association of Real Estate boards has just completed its semi-annual survey of the building industry throughout the nation. The survey covers 379 cities through a rough basis to furnish a fair picture of the national situation. The survey shows the market to have been more active in 40 per cent of these cities and less active in 20 per cent, while the remaining proportions shows no change. In a country growing so rapidly as the United States, and especially the cities, a slowing up is indicated. More than half of the cities show that building has either stood still or actually gone backward.

Rents, too, were found to be up in only 17 per cent of the cities surveyed while they were lower in 27 per cent. These percentages refer to dwelling houses. Apartment houses show higher rents in 18 per cent of the cities and lower rents in 17 per cent.

Although the acute shortage in housing caused by the war has been met, shortages, due to natural growth are shown in 21 per cent of the cities and overbuilding in 12 per cent. These figures are approximately the same for both single dwelling houses and apartments.

So far as business property is concerned, office buildings and the like, 22 per cent of the cities show a shortage and 19 per cent overbuilding. High rents seem to have played some part here because rents were shown to be up in 40 per cent of the cities and down in only 8 per cent. This doubtless, is attributable to increased taxes, levied by municipalities. It will be remembered that President Harding and President Coolidge both warned the American public concerning the rising tax bill of states and cities and their tremendous load of bonded indebtedness.

New York City alone, obviously, stands out as its private building operations are equal in volume to those of scores of other cities combined. Contracts for new construction in June were 39 per cent below June—an astonishing drop in such an era of expansion as the last year has been. Thirty per cent of this loss was in residential buildings, 17 in commercial buildings, and 13 in industrial buildings. Further, to show how definite the slowing up is, new projects announced have declined 58 per cent under a year ago.

The vast importance to the nation of such a situation is that the amount of money usually spent in a year on buildings has been in excess of $3,000,000,000. It is thought that the public has concluded that it can not afford to buy hard houses unable to stand up in a breeze or endure frost, snow, and rain. In effect there appears to be a mild buyers' strike which may last until there is confident public belief that sounder structures will be erected.

This is a special department devoted solely to the handling of queries. This paper puts at your disposal the services of an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. This service is free. Failure to make use of it deprives you of benefits to which you are entitled. Your obligation is only two cents in coin or stamps enclosed with your inquiry for direct reply. Address the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is it possible for an airplane to make a climb so steep that it will kill the motor? J. W. K.

A. It is not possible. The motor will labor when it reaches its maximum altitude but it will not stop. The plane merely ceases to gain altitude.

Q. What kind of a horse is a plater? V. E. W.

A. A plater is a horse which runs chiefly in plate races. A plate race is one in which a prize is given to the winner, the contestants not making a stake.

Q. Does a boy have to finish high school before beginning to study law? S. J. W.

A. The American Bar Association, at the present time, requires, in addition to a high school education, a two year pre-law course and the requirements will probably be raised shortly to college degree previous to entering law school.

Q. At what season is the tide highest in the Bay of Fundy? H. A.

A. The tides of the Bay of Fundy are always high, but the highest tides occur in the spring and autumn.

Q. How old are the catacombs of Rome? E. A. P.

A. They are long underground galleries which have existed certainly for over 2,000 years. They have excavations in the sides for tombs or in many cases ledges or niches in which human bones were stacked or piled.

Q. What is the Abraham Lincoln Foundation? N. C.

A. It is a movement toward the establishment of Abraham Lincoln University. It is planned to establish the university within the Metropolitan Area of New York City, in Westchester county. A scholarship endowment and building fund of $66,000,000 is to be raised.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—No other city is so glibly for what the Los Angeles calls "the cat racket." It is paradise for the mental fadist or the health evangelist. Indeed any sect spreading some new brand of mystic alacrada is sure of a following.

Every variety of fortune teller, crystal gazer or religious prophet is hailed with a huzzah. They open salons along such Fifth avenue-like boulevards as Wilshire and their clientele is not recruited entirely from "below stairs"—but from the fashionable drawing-rooms.

Those who profess to know say the craze to pierce the veil of the future spawned among motion picture folk. Every newcomer to the studios came hugging a Big Dream and was an easy mark for the charlatans who professed an ability to read the stars, coffee grounds or what have you.

People of prominence socially and financially out here will often confess with a guilty little giggle they have just been to an astrological attic or some other haven of soothsaying endeavor. They do not believe in it, they say. Still they continue to go from one to another.

As a result of this collective urge for mysticism the streets are dotted with queerly dressed characters. One sees the swarthy swami in turban and flowing robe, the long bearded shoeless and hatless John the Baptist with the burning eyes of the zealot, the unwashed pulpiter and the soap box rant.

Most of the lesser lights in the fanatical flock make their rendezvous Pershing Square in the heart of the city. In the early morning or evening these odd and often cracked creatures blown from all corners of the earth gather and babble their isms.

They are harmless and never molested by the police, in the motley assortment, too, are hobo poets, seedy soldiers of fortune, trailers of revolutions and sundry other picturesque vagabonds who, touched by an incurable wanderlust, are always on the march.

Basil Woon is here to novelize the film folk—and all are welcoming him with open arms but a few are wrinkling worried brows in private. Mr. Woon has given the exact low down on various parts of the world in such books as "The Paris That Is Not in the Guide Books," "The Fantastic Atlantic," "Cocktail Time in Cuba," "From Deauville to Monte Carlo," etc. He is well versed in the law of libel and never violates it but manages just the same to tell things often whispered but rarely printed. Mr. Woon, incidentally, is the only man I know by that name save a Chinaman in Xenia, O.

An unforgettable memory of Los Angeles is the lost soul wall of fire wagons. They seem continually roaring through town with sirens wide open. It is deafening even to those accustomed to being knocked from under their hats by a New York dynamite blast.

From a real estate booklet: "You may not think so but you will eventually be one of Los Angeles' biggest boosters."

That suggests first aid for an acute pain in the neck. Yet if you stay long enough you become a screeching member of the howling clan. I am acquainted with people I have reason to know dislike the city but for no reason at all will sing its praises.

One of the flourishing institutions in the center of town is Solomon's penny-a-dance arcade. It occupies a block with a structure resembling a giant airframe with, inconspicuously enough a large space in front for automobile parking. Here one may dance for a penny a dance or learn the terpsichorean art in ten lessons for $1.10. Mr. Solomon, the proprietor, is a reputed millionaire.

Fashion Note: The young sheiks are restoring the Gay Ninety middle part in their hair. Perhaps the Gene Markey influence!

If you can't ride a horse here you don't belong. As one who merely hovers over them it was disconcerting to be told that my mount would shy at nothing but umbrellas and then have a shower come up. I grew hoarse yelling, "Oh, lady, please put down your umbrella!" And never felt so much the old fool before.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Nothing can be much more comforting to its possessor than a clean, clear skin. Everybody wants it and seeks it.

Unfortunately there are many diseases of the skin. Perhaps the most common is the condition called "eczema," or "salt rheum."

Like any other inflammation of the skin, the first symptom of eczema is redness. Not only is the affected part always red, but under excitement, irritation from rubbing or scratching, exposure to heat, or violent exercise, the redness is increased.

After a while little blisters form on the reddened skin. As these break, there is more or less moisture on the affected surface.

But the disease does not stop here. It is not long before scales and crusts take the place of the blisters.

The affected part itches, especially when the redness is increased from any cause. At times the itching is almost unbearable.

It is difficult to tell the difference between simple inflammation of the skin, called "dermatitis," and true eczema. The former is due usually to some outside irritation of the skin, and eczema is due to some internal cause.

Any skin blemish is probably an evidence of lowered resistance. It may be the outward and visible sign of a poorly working stomach and intestines. These red blotches may be the danger signal of Nature. They may indicate her protest against abuse of the digestive organs. They may mean that the kidneys are failing in their work.

It matters not whether the patient is a grown person or an infant, the presence of eczema should direct attention to the condition of the digestive organs. If constipation is present it should be corrected.

Excesses in food, highly seasoned food, abuse of alcohol, midnight suppers, and all indiscretions in diet are productive of eczema, and must not be permitted if cure is to be had. Some one food may act as a poison and be the real cause of the trouble.

The "run-down" person is often troubled with this disease. Overwork, loss of sleep, worry, any cause for nervous exhaustion is a sufficient cause for eczema. Tired out persons should be warned by the skin eruption.

The itching may be relieved by application of ordinary baking soda dissolved in water. Oxide of zinc ointment may be had at the drug store and is frequently a means of relief. Sometimes oxide of zinc is mixed with coal tar and used to dry up the blisters of eczema.

One of the most efficacious remedies for itching of the skin is hypodermic of soda. This may be made up by placing a handful in a pint of water. If the whole body itches place a cupful or more in a bath tub half filled with water and get into the solution. It will add greatly to your comfort.

In every case the family doctor should be consulted. He will determine whether the kidneys or other organs require attention. He will help to find what particular food is responsible for the disturbance.

LISBON, O., July 22.—Wheat crop in Columbiana county this season is nearly double that of 1928, with little, if any, increase in acreage, according to reports from growers. New wheat is now bringing $1.20 a bushel at Lisbon mills, and about 600 bushels of the new crop have been delivered.

The yield is said to average from 29 to 30 bushels an acre. Some growers who sold immediately after their yield was threshed received $1.10 a bushel.

Many growers last fall sowed certified seed. Practically all wheat grown in the county is sold to local mills.

YIELD OF WHEAT

LISBON, O., July 22.—Walter S. Ruff, with offices in the Harter Bank building, Canton, has filed an injunction action in common pleas court against Frank Weaver, of New Alexandria, seeking to restrain Weaver from removing a yield of wheat from the Ruff farm.

Ruff leased the farm to Weaver on Sept. 8, 1926. The lease, which expired March 15, 1929, provided that straw and hay were to be left on the farm. Weaver now threatens to take the wheat chocks from the farm, it is charged. A temporary order has been granted against Weaver.

PARIS TAXI HORNS
BLOW TWO TONES

PARIS.—Paris taxi horns, long a distinguishing part of the voice of this great city, are about to become symphonic.

They will, at any rate, if the bill introduced by M. Georges Delanoit goes through.

M. Delanoit would have the horns in one or both of two tones. And the two tones would combine to form a perfect harmony.

Parisian law makers are seriously considering the proposition, and if those of them who are modernistic lovers of cacaphony do not vote contrariwise, the bill will be passed.

DIX STARS AS
BRITISH CAPTAIN

The story of the second Richard Dix all-talking picture, "The Wheel of Life," based upon the successful stage play by James Bernard Fagan, was adapted for the screen by John Farrow, who did the adaptation or continuities of such screen hits as "Ladies of the Mob," "The Woman from Moscow," "Three Week Ends," "Wolf Song" and "A Dangerous Woman."

The action of "The Wheel of Life," which comes to the Ceramic theater for three days beginning today, shows Dix as Captain Yeullat, of the British service in India. A love affair develops between Yeullat and the young wife of his superior officer, an older man. Yeullat and the girl are parted when he gets a transfer to Tibet in order to prevent a scandal in the regiment. But they meet later when Dix goes to the rescue of British travelers who are besieged in an ancient Buddhist monastery high in the Himalayas.

The final is one of the most amazing climaxes in the history of dramatized, according to critics who viewed the production.

Esther Ralston plays the feminine lead, and O. P. Heggie, famous Broadway star, plays the role of the elderly colonel.

"MOTHER'S BOY"

In keeping with the richness of their surroundings, the men and women who are seen in this delightful sequence, are top-notchers in their individual fields. Among the thirty couples seated at the tables were many professional models, well known to patrons of Fifth avenue modiste shops, rich fur emporiums and night clubs in New York. Of the men, the faces of many are known to those who scan the advertisements for the dressiest collars, suits and overcoats.

It is in this case that Tommy O'Day, who is his "Mother's Boy," formerly

COLMAN STARS
IN ROLE OF SEA

Using Joseph Conrad's masterpiece, "The Rescue," as the vehicle for his first appearance as an individual star for Samuel Goldwyn, Ronald Colman appears before his public in a new light in "The Rescue," which opened at the State theater today. The hero of "Bean Geste" and "Two Lovers" now has a role of the sea and desperate intrigue among the natives of the Malay archipelago. Herbert Brenon, the same director who made Colman in "Bean Geste," wielded the megaphone for this United Artists picture, and Lily Damita, Samuel Goldwyn's new French find, plays opposite Colman as the beautiful Mrs. Travers.

There is every opportunity for beauty of setting and matchless drama in the plot of "The Rescue." In the midst of Captain Tom Lingard's lawless affair of honor involving the throne of a Malay prince, blundered an English yacht, fatefully stranded in the midst of what was to be the dark theater of war. Of the three white passengers, only the owner's wife understood the situation—and Lingard. On him fell the decision—to save the whites and ruin his enterprise—or let the natives have their way with them and fulfill his debt to the Malaysian prince.

And love! To Lingard this woman "imperfectly civilized"—her husband said—came as the first blinding flash of all woman could mean to man. Integrity—the duty of a white to his countryman in the South Seas, the never-broken word of King Tom to a native. His whole career—and this woman. The inevitable climax of "The Rescue" is unguessable.

Ronald Colman is said to have never appeared to better advantage than as the daring wanderer of the sea—"King Tom," in this thrilling, romantic drama.

As an added measure of preparedness, the well-informed tourist of today takes his Automobile Insurance Policies along with him. Whether it's a summer vacation or a week-end trip, the Policies travel right with the driver. In the event of accident there is the assurance of satisfactory adjustment without any unnecessary questioning or delay. The Lee C. Cooper Agency makes a specialty of all kinds of Automobile Insurance. They have solved hundreds of insurance problems. This experience enables them to give you expert advice and service. You may carry insurance but are you carrying sufficient amount?

If you hurry, you'll be able to participate in some really grand bargains in living room furniture at The Frank Crook Co. I find they are selling a number of Karpen samples. Considering quality and style, Karpen furniture has no superior, that's why I urge you to hurry. Once the news is out that these suits are reduced to such low figures you'll be denied the pleasure of seeing them, much less buying one. Graceful, beautiful and decidedly modern, these suits will be in good taste long after this age of ours is history. You'll never find a better bargain!

We thought there could be no more surprises for us, where sports dresses were concerned, but we saw some brand new models at Lemmer's that we had never seen previously. Came across several border-stripe ensembles that are amazingly clever and many of these frocks can be worn late into the fall season. There's not one thing about these smart dresses to suggest their very modest price as the materials are the choicest, their styles take plenty of "making" and their workmanship is of high quality.

The real function of a refrigerator is to enable you to buy in larger quantities than are needed for daily use, and to protect and preserve them. The joy of perfect refrigeration belongs to every Frigidaire owner. Not only for its food-preserving qualities is Frigidaire approved but it is the "fairy's castle" from which come those deliciously different, cold and colorful desserts and salads which make meal-planning a pleasure and hospitality memorable. They can be prepared hours, even days in advance of serving. The new Frigidaires are now on display at the Crockery City Ice & Products Co. See the new "Cold Control" in operation. Notice how quietly it operates.

You might just as well take your $5.75 firmly in your hand and waltz right over here and buy yourself one of these sleeveless dresses at OGLIVIES. We'd like to smuggle them out of 'em for our very own self but that's out of the question so we're perfectly willing to share our "find." Only one favor I ask of you. Please, oh please don't think of these dresses belonging to the any-old-thing-with-the-sleeves-left-off-family. They're no relation whatever and we commend them to the most critical young miss or matron. They come in the most delightful colors, every one's skirt is generously pleated, and no two are alike.

They thought it safely hidden from every living soul but themselves but one night this East Liverpool family returned home to find that during their absence the house had been entered and ransacked. Yes, the little locked box in which they had kept their valuables, had also disappeared. If you ever lost anything you treasured you can appreciate their feelings. Instead of a word of consolation, the husband said in no uncertain terms, "See there, if you had only done as I asked you to do three years ago, rent a safety deposit box at The First National Bank, this would never have happened." That's a man for you. Why didn't he rent one?

A happy vacation starts from a foundation of perfection in grooming and certainly a permanent wave is not the least of the planning. Quite naturally the question "Where to go?" arises. To place one's crowning glory in the hands of a beautification in whom you can place your confidence and faith? That is a tender problem but you needn't have any fears about consulting the Stern Beauty Shoppe. This salon is noted for its efficient operators, its up-to-date methods, its first quality supplies and its outstandingly beautiful waves.—Adv.

Stomach Gas, Dizzy Spells And Backaches Vanish

"Owa-Ton-Na Real Opportunity For Discouraged Sufferers," Says Mrs. Flanagan.

When ill health comes, too often the selection of the right remedy is not given careful consideration. Nature has endowed mankind with its most delicate mechanism. Minute nerve ramification in important organs of the body can easily be deadened by harmful medicines thus interfering with the transmission of nature's warnings to the brain centers. The result is that destructive poisons continue their work in delicate organs as long as such remedies are used but upon their discontinuance, it is not long until the sufferer finds that their treatment has been of no avail. Thousands of sufferers have experienced this condition until finally they felt there was no help for them.

Owa-Ton-Na proves itself exceptionally valuable in obstinate cases which do not seem to respond to treatment. Often times, relief in these cases is considered miraculous. It is not claimed that Owa-Ton-Na performs miracles; simply that it does what very few medicines do and that is to cleanse from the system harmful poisons which are causing disease. The purity with which nature's roots, herbs, bark and berries are compounded in this Indian formula, Owa-Ton-Na, act as daily being experienced by thousands of sufferers. They act not by doping, and deadening but by stimulating normal functional activity which results in a natural elimination of disease. The laboratory representative who is daily explaining the merits of this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, has seen thousands of gratifying cases and will be able to tell you about them and the merits of this remedy.

Of particular interest to similar sufferers is the case of Mrs. Melia Flanagan, Jefferson street, Newell, W. Va., who has tried many remedies for the relief of her disorders but with very little results. She says: "It would be hard for me to say just how many different things I have tried since I have been ailing. It almost seems as though I had been taking medicines all my life. Terrible gas and bloating spells with which I suffered, sometimes made me feel as though I couldn't bear them. Why at times it seemed I couldn't get my breath. Food just lay in my stomach it seemed for hours and many nights I would toss about in bed without being able to sleep."
"My bowels have been constipated for years and my kidneys had not been functioning the way they should. Many nights, I was forced to get up three and four times and the backaches with which I suffered made me feel as though my back would break. I would get so dizzy at times that I would have to sit down for fear of falling and this sensation had me scared as I didn't seem to know what caused it; and then I would get terrible headaches that almost drove me crazy. I heard so much about this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, and the good it had done for many of my friends that I felt it would surely do some good for me. I certainly bless the day that I tried the first bottle. I never found anything equal to Owa-Ton-Na.

"Even the first bottle seemed to make all my stomach trouble disappear. No more gas, no more indigestion and my heart is acting normally. When I used to be afraid to eat, I now eat anything I want and have a wonderful appetite. Not only did it correct my stomach troubles but my kidneys are acting normally. Backaches are a thing of the past and constipation which has always caused me so much trouble, is gone."
Case after case reports similar good results from the use of this fine old Indian Remedy. You, too, may find in Owa-Ton-Na just the remedy you have been looking for. A trial bottle will convince you and it is certainly worth that to anyone who is suffering. Call today at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, and have a confidential talk with the special laboratory representative. This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. store.—Adv.

TWO THEATER BANDITS STEAL G. L. MILLER CAR

E. Liverpool Carpenter Victim of Hollywood, Calif., Holdup.

$15,000 TAKEN

Herman Woomer Also Witnesses Daring Robbery.

George L. Miller, Cain Heights carpenter, was robbed of his sedan by two bandits who were fleeing with $15,000 in cash stolen from a collector of a motion picture theater, while touring in Hollywood, California, relatives were advised today.

Miller and Herman Woomer, also a carpenter, of Anderson boulevard, were on their way east from Santa Cruz, California, when they were accosted by the bandits, who ordered them to "hop out or be shot." The bandits took the car and drove away before the police arrived.

The hold-up was staged in front of Grauman's Chinese theater, Hollywood boulevard, in the heart of the movie colony.

U. A. Crowley, detective lieutenant on the Hollywood police force, who also acts as a collector for the Fox theaters, was carrying a bag containing Saturday and Sunday receipts to his automobile at the curb when three strangers accosted him.

"Drop that money or we'll drill you full of holes," one of the men commanded. Crowley obeyed. Carrying the bag to Crowley's machine the three were about to enter the car when the detective pulled his revolver and fired. Grasping the satchel from the car the three hold-up men fled, returning the fire as they ran. A bystander was shot in the leg by one of the bullets.

Turning into a side street, two of the bandits met Miller and Woomer, the third disappearing in another direction. Two shots were directed at Miller's machine before he stopped.

Miller and Woomer who are employed by the Winland Brothers' Lumber company, have been in Santa Cruz for six weeks, remodeling a store room to be occupied by the Metropolitan Stores, Inc. They had just finished the job and were visiting in Hollywood on their way to Enid, Oklahoma, when Miller lost his car.

FIRE DAMAGES OHIO SCHOOL

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(INS.)—Fire today had caused damage estimated at $1500 at St. Mary's of the Assumption school here.

The blaze, the origin of which is unknown, started on the first floor of the building. It had spread to the second floor before firemen had succeeded in bringing it under control. No one was injured.

ters to rush troopers at once to the prison.

Warden Kaiser told prison officials he had no idea what started the riot. Kaiser said the prisoners were peacefully marching out of the mess hall when suddenly two or three voices were heard to yell:

"Now is the time to make a break for freedom."

Within a minute, it was said the riot was on in full swing.

The prisoners, brushing their guards to one side and literally trampling over each other, rushed into the prison yard, yelling and screaming.

"Man walls and shoot to kill," Warden Kaiser ordered the guards as the convicts milled about the prison yard.

A second later two shots rang out and two convicts, who had been trying to scale the walls, fell, apparently mortally wounded. Other convicts dragged their wounded comrades to the prison door where they were picked up by guards and taken into the hospital.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

By W. S. Cousins.

I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Outside of a few of the utility stocks and specialties, there was little enthusiasm in the stock market in the first hour this morning and little buying demand for last week's high flyers. General Electric shares, Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn union in the utilities, and Bendix in the aviation stocks. Though all money was offered at 7 per cent, there was considerable uneasiness in the money situation, the bears having circulated rumors of a new clubbing of the money market by reserve board heads.

Consolidated gas moved up about 2 points to 150 1/2 and Brooklyn Union jumped 8 points to 226. American Waterworks, North American, United Gas Improvement and other favored utilities sold up a point or two in a dull market. General Electric recorded a 4 point advance to 356. Bendix, leading aviation specialties, crossed par for the first time and pushed through to 101 1/2, up 3. Auburn Motors jumped 16 points to 363.

Bremen Nears Port

This would surpass by hours the record held by the Mauretania for the westward crossings of 5 days 2 hours and 34 minutes.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(INS.)—With the trans-Atlantic speed record in her grasp, the new North German Lloyd liner Bremen sighted Nantucket lightship at 7:30 a. m. today, ploughing along at better than 28 knots an hour. She will pass Fire Island at 1 p. m., and make quarantine at 2:30, it is expected.

When she nears Fire Island, the amphibian mail plane will be catapulted from her deck to arrive at the Bremen's berth, Pier 4, Brooklyn, at about 1:40.

The last radio from the Bremen, received at 9:30 a. m. by Captain George Baronsky, assistant superintendent of the line, informed the officials that at the end of her maiden voyage, the Bremen's log will show a run of 780 miles for her last day's coverage, computed from the position at noon yesterday.

EXONERATE MAN IN BUS CRASH

State Rules in Overturning of Coach Near Canfield.

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—(INS.)—That the driver of the bus which overturned south of Canfield, June 29, resulting in the injury of the driver and seven passengers, was not to blame for the accident is the declaration contained in a report which was filed today with the state utilities commission.

The bus belonged to the Youngstown & Suburban Transit company and was enroute from Youngstown to Salem at the time of the accident.

The report, covering investigation of the accident, attributed the mishap to the breaking of the left front spring of the bus.

Closer inspection by company of its busses with a view to preventing accidents was recommended in the report which was submitted by H. M. Evans, chief inspector in the commission's motor bus division. The company, it was stated, concurred in this recommendation.

TWO BOATS SEEK R. E. LEE RECORD

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 22.—(INS.)—Somewhere north of here on the broad, yellow Mississippi river, two steamboats today are en route to St. Louis, racing each other for the stake of "five cents," and both of them were "trying to beat the record of the Robert E. Lee."

The two vessels, one an elaborate express cruiser named "Columbia Jane," belonging to George M. Cox, New Orleans capitalist, and the other a speed boat "Bogie," owned and piloted by Dr. Louis Leroy, steamed away from here yesterday afternoon as crowds lined the banks cheering and waving hands, and a small cannon fired a salute.

The "Martha Jane" and the "Bogie" are entirely unlike. The former has sleeping quarters and carried a chef, while the latter has room only for its crew of three to six.

In order to break the record of the famous boat of song and story, the racers will have to reach St. Louis by 9:36 a. m. Thursday. The "Robert E. Lee's" time was 30 hours and 31 minutes.

GOVERNOR COOPER RETURNS TO DESK

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—(INS.)—After being absent 10 days from his offices here, Governor Myers Y. Cooper today returned to the state house. He immediately took up the routine duties of the gubernatorial division of state government.

During his absence, Governor Cooper reviewed Ohio national guardsmen at Camp Perry, addressed the mid-summer session of the Ohio Bar association at Cedar Point and attended sessions of the annual conference of governors at New London, Conn.

The governor made no comment relative to the Ohio race track situation.

He announced his intention of conferring with members of the recently appointed revolutionary war memorial trail commission here Tuesday afternoon. He will entertain, at luncheon Wednesday afternoon, members of the new state office building commission which is to hold its first session that day.

MASCHKE HURT IN GOLF MATCH

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(INS.)—Maurice Maschke, Republican national committeeman, was confined to his home here today with a strained tendon sustained yesterday while playing golf on the Oakwood Country club links.

Maschke's brother, Dr. A. S. Maschke, was injured last week in a plane crash at Mt. Solon, Va.

NEW TRAFFIC LAMPS OPERATE

"Diamond" Takes on Metropolitan Aspect Today.

The "Diamond" takes on a metropolitan aspect today, as new traffic rules, approved by Service-Safety Director John W. Moore and Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, go into effect.

Traffic lamps at the intersection of Dresden avenue and St. Clair avenue with Sixth street have been placed in operation.

Two lanes of traffic are traversing each side of the Diamond between Fifth and Sixth streets. As a result of the increase in driving lanes from two to four, the service department has also marked off safety zones for street car passengers using main line, east, and the Chester cars, as well as the River road bus.

FIRE SWEEPS OHIO VILLAGE

Fultonham Store, Lodge-room and Homes are In Ruins.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Fire early yesterday morning swept the village of Fultonham, near here, and today the general store, a lodge room and two homes are in ruin.

The general store of M. A. McCammon was destroyed, as was the Masonic lodge room on the second floor of the building.

The homes of J. W. Lloyd and Anna Beetham were burned to the ground.

A third home was slightly damaged by the blaze.

Fire apparatus from Zanesville was sent to the scene.

22 Violent Deaths

Green, Saturday afternoon snuffed out the lives of three persons. James Darchon, 49, his son, Carl, 25, and Charles Jones, a flying instructor, all of Youngstown, were burned to death when a ship burst into flames after it had nose-dived to the ground. The party was enroute to Pontiac, Mich., on a week-end fishing trip.

Two drownings were reported, one of which resulted when a canoe was struck by a steamer on Lake Erie.

Richard Lazarus, 8, son of a wealthy Columbus family, was struck and killed at Charlevoix, Mich., where the family had been spending the summer. He was killed when he ran into the path of an auto while chasing a ball.

Other accidents in various sections of the state resulted in four casualties.

Seven Killed at Crossing.

EATON, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Seven persons were killed when the Chicago daylight express of the Pennsylvania Railroad demolished an automobile at a crossing yesterday two miles west of here in the Dayton-Indianapolis road yesterday.

It is the largest number of persons to be killed in a single grade crossing crash in Preble county and one of the greatest tolls to be exacted by an accident involving a train and a private-owned automobile in Ohio.

The dead are Frank Clark, 28, and his wife Ray Holman, 20, and his wife and their three children, Cecil, 4, Odell, 2, and Juanita, 2-months old. All are said to have been residents of Richmond, Ind., which is located just over the Ohio state line.

Their automobile was carried 400 feet down the track, by the train, which was enroute to Chicago from Cincinnati.

The occupants were strewn along the right-of-way and were horribly mangled. Parts of the car were found 100 feet from the highway.

Picnickers Are Victims

The party was en route to their homes after having enjoyed a day of picnicking in Ohio.

The crew of the train picked up three of the dead persons and brought them to a physician's office here. The other four victims were brought here in an ambulance.

Dr. R. L. Emrick, who examined the dead, declared the seven had been killed instantly.

At the point where the tragedy occurred, the railroad crosses the highway at an angle.

An investigation into the accident will be made today by Sheriff Samuel Welsh, acting coroner S. S. Lander and Marshal Willard Armstrong.

These officials said that they expected a report of the accident from officials of the Pennsylvania railroad.

"Hit-Skip" Motorist Kills Man.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 22.—(INS.)—A "hit-skip" motorist who caused two accidents in the Uhrichville road, near here, Saturday night, which resulted in the death of one person and injuries to four others, was being sought by eastern Ohio police today.

John A. Hare, 42, Dover, was struck and killed by the motorist. Hare was returning to his machine with a can of gasoline. The driver of the car which hit him did not stop.

A short time later, the automobile of Lewis Kerlin, Canton, was forced from the road by a car, which is believed to have been the same automobile which struck and killed Hare.

Four persons were injured, not seriously, when Kerlin's car overturned in a ditch.

Three Killed at Dayton.

DAYTON, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Three persons were killed and 15 others were injured in automobile accidents here over the week-end.

Adam Becker, 52, met death when his automobile was struck and demolished by a Pennsylvania passenger train.

Mrs. Frank Recher, 63, of Ellerton, was killed in an automobile collision, and Mrs. Mary Hurdlebrink was

THE old lady who thought she could mop up the ocean would admire New York's Police Commissioner Whelan. He closed 15 busy speakeasies Saturday, leaving about 31,955 speakeasies still doing business in New York City, according to police figures.

The 15 closed will reopen elsewhere today or tomorrow.

INHABITANTS of New York, and United States prosperity that spends its money in New York, should heed the warning of Mr. Whelan. He tells you, "Keep away from night clubs controlled by gangs and gamblers; they are subject to raids and to shooting affrays at any time."

Each has its gangster "spotters," studying customers as they drink, estimating the value of women's jewelry, the size of men's "rolls."

SOME times they hold up customers as they go home, more or less drunk. Some times they simply follow them home, take the address and arrange a burglary later.

GANGSTERS, you will remember, usually have several convictions in their records. To be convicted again, under the New York Baumes law, means prison for life.

They will gladly shoot you, rather than run any risk of life imprisonment.

Solitary drinking of bootleg whisky is poor sport. But it is safer than night club drinking.

"If you are sensitive, self-conscious, introspective, thinking too much about yourself, looked at yourself in a mirror and grin for five minutes every day." So says Professor Overstreet, teacher of psychology.

THE looking glass is particularly good for sensitiveness. Shyness is a little different, it is like an arrow forever pointing toward yourself.

Earning a living, particularly in the line of different salesmanship, is a good cure for all those troubles. There are salesmen that have conquered shyness, sensitiveness, introspection and timidity completely.

A CLEVELAND sheriff threatened to close a race track, alleged to be a gambling resort, maintained in defiance of the laws and constitution of Ohio.

A judge issued an injunction restraining the sheriff from interference with the race track, and jailed, for contempt of court, two newspapermen who criticized severely his use of judicial power. It is our duty to believe that the judge acted according to law and the newspapermen ought to be in jail. Respect for the courts must be maintained.

IT IS permissible to ask, however, where fair criticism ends and contempt begins.

Suppose some judge, with the best of intentions, should enjoin a policeman from interfering with a burglar about to break into a bank?

Suppose newspapermen criticized that judge. Would that call for imprisonment of the newspapermen by the judge?

Ohio Farmer Dies in Wreck

CIRCLEVILLE, O., July 22.—(INS.)—James Bullock, 50, a farmer, was killed today in an automobile accident at Meade, near here.

His car was struck by the car of Noah Martens, Lancaster, and the collision demolished both cars. Martens escaped uninjured. He was exonerated from all blame.

The accident occurred at a cross-roads.

Bullock lived on a farm near Gillespieville.

Cleveland Reports Three Victims

CLEVELAND, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Three persons were killed in traffic accidents in Cleveland during the week-end.

John Kohott, 41, was struck and killed by an automobile and John Novak, 51, met a similar fate.

The third victim of Cleveland's traffic remains unidentified. He was struck by a truck. His age was estimated at 55.

Many injuries were recorded.

Cincinnati Boy Is Killed.

CINCINNATI, O., July 22.—(INS.)—Thomas Blair, 8, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile here last night, and authorities today are conducting an investigation into the boy's death. The driver of the car told police that the boy had run into the path of his automobile.

Numerous injuries were recorded in other accidents here during the week-end.

'ST. LOUIS ROBIN' NEARING FAME

Endurance Fliers Stay Up as Sister Ship Lands.

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LAMBERT FIELD, ST. LOUIS, July 22.—Little more than a day away from fame and with keen prodder blades busily shaving that time margin, the endurance monoplane "St. Louis Robin" was wheeling and dipping over the St. Louis district today in its seemingly endless flight.

But while the "St. Louis Robin" was soaring on towards a new record, its sister ship the "Missouri Robin" fluttered to earth at 7:51 this morning, 117 hours and 20 minutes after its take-off at 10:31 last Wednesday morning.

The double-barrelled effort to break the endurance record thus became a solo attempt.

"The St. Louis Robin" began its tenth day and 217th hour in the air at 7:17 this morning.

YANKEES LOSE GROUND TO A'S IN 17 GAMES ON ROAD

Pirates Return In Top Berth

Plenty of Intersectional Contests Billed.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The intersectional warfare which has been raging on both big league fronts changes today, with the western clubs of the National league returning to their own stamping grounds and the eastern teams in the junior organization invading the east. Cleveland at Philadelphia and Brooklyn at Pittsburgh are the only games scheduled for today.

The sixteen major league outfits will get their fill of intersectional engagements during the next five weeks, for another round of east vs. west meeting will follow almost immediately on the heels of the present set.

In the American league the Yankees lost a full game on the road tour just concluded, with a record of 10 wins in 17 starts as against 12 victories and seven defeats for the Athletics. The champions suffered through the hitting slump of Gehrig; the ineffectiveness of Hoyt, their pitching ace, who has not won a game since June 21, and the injury to Ruth. They are 10½ games behind the Mackmen this morning.

Although the Pirates relinquished first place in the National league to the Cubs for one day (last Saturday), they won 11 out of 15 games on their eastern trip and improved their position. The Cubs also won 11 games, but lost six.

The Pirates regained first place yesterday when Remy Kremer scored a 5 to 3 decision over Benton of the Giants, who was ruined by errors made by Lindstrom and Leach. The Giants won 10 and lost eight against the invading westerners, but lost ground to the leaders.

A pitching duel between Dazzy Vance and Pat Malone, leading strike-out artists of the National league, resulted in Brooklyn's first victory of the year over Chicago, 3 to 1. Vance whiffed 10 batters, fanning the mighty Hack Wilson on each of the slugger's four appearances at the plate.

Manager Rabbit Maranville's dream of landing a first-division berth for the Braves took on a rosier hue as the Beaneaters two-timed the Cardinals, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3, for their third consecutive victory under the leadership of the veteran Spark Plug.

Cleveland won the series from the Yankees three games to two, by knocking out Hoyt and plastering a 6 to 4 defeat on the champions. Manager Huggins and Buster Gehrig were banished by Ump Van Graffan for squawking over a decision, and Babe Ruth, the $75,000-a-year pinch hitter, delivered a pinch-sling.

Kyle Graham, former Boston pitcher obtained by Detroit from Seattle held the Athletics at bay for 10 innings but went down to a 10 to 7 defeat when the Mackmen nicked him for four runs in the eleventh. Bing Miller led the Philadelphia attack with five hits.

Cop Doubles With Millers and Toledo in A A Lop.

Indianapolis and Milwaukee took long strides toward their ultimate goals in the American Association pennant race yesterday by taking both games of their double-headers, while the remainder of the teams of the double "A" split their twin games.

Before proceeding, it must be explained just exactly what is the ultimate goal of the teams. Indianapolis is at present striving valiantly to displace Minneapolis in third position and Milwaukee would like very much to obey the admonitions of its manager and step up out of the cellar.

Indianapolis took both games from Minneapolis by 8 to 2 and 7 to 2 decisions, which was consistent enough ball playing to even cause a gasp of wonderment from the observers who are following the tumultuous doings in the Association.

Toledo, which may slip into the cellar most any day now, lost two games to Milwaukee yesterday by 4 to 0 and 8 to 4 scores.

It is a significant fact that both Indianapolis and Milwaukee registered victories over the team they are trying to displace from their positions. It helps matters not a little.

Because the remainder of the twin games were split, they can have no revolutionizing effect on the standings.

Columbus fell prey to Kansas City in a first game when the Cowboys scratched out 5 runs while the Senators' best, which was far from being good enough, brought in only one run. Coming back strong in the second scuffle, however, the Columbus nine duplicated the Cowboys' feat in the preceding game and scored 5 tallies while Kansas City had to be content with 3.

Louisville upset St. Paul and was, in turn, upset in its double header yesterday. The first battle of nine innings ended 9 to 5 while the second was brought to a finish by a 13 to 2 score. The 13 representing the tallies of St. Paul, which was unlucky enough to lose the first contest.

Georgian Amateur Favorite

However, Bobby is Favorite in any Tournament.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Having amply demonstrated that professional golfers are just another kick in the pants as far as he is concerned, Bobby Jones is going to the amateur championship at Pebble Beach in September a natural and prohibitive favorite. It would seem, indeed, that he might find it difficult to go wrong against a field of dilettante amateurs after sidestepping the best of the professionals abroad in 1926 and 1927 and again in America in 1926 and 1929. Besides, didn't he make a holy show of the amateur championship of 1924, 1925, 1927 and 1928? And isn't he the greatest golfer the world ever knew? Really, my dear Watson, you're elemental.

Yet, in spite of the man's excessive ability there are those who hint that the amateur championship, possibly the easiest of his conquests in other years, may get away from him this time.

Golf Whimsical. Largely, they thus are copping the known fact that golf is the most uncertain and whimsical of sports, and, therefore, open to amazing developments. But they also have a degree of plausibility on which to hang their idle speculations, being history, for one thing that Jones never has been able to collect both the open and amateur titles during one and the same year.

Possible arguments against a Jones victory at Pebble Beach, therefore, may be summed up by the following: (a) Precedent. (b) The uncertainty of the two 18-hole rounds that start the tournament. (c) George Von Elm.

They are touting Von Elm as the man to beat Jones, for several reasons, one of which happens to be the fact that he can beat Jones. One knows that he can because it so happens that he did—in the 1926 finale. Another reason can be set down as Von Elm's intimate acquaintance with Pebble Beach where he has played some of his finest golf. A third revolves around the fact that he seems to have reclaimed much of the greatness he knew several years ago.

He was only three strokes back of Jones and Espinosa in the open at Winged Foot and played the best golf of the field through the last two rounds.

Von Elm's Chances. One must understand, of course, that Von Elm's best figures to lose to Jones' best on an average of five days in every seven. The idea is, however, that he needs only one of the two remaining days to put Jones or anybody else out of the tournament. Von Elm ought to know as a matter of fact. Recognized as the greatest amateur next to Jones, he didn't get past the first round at Minikahda and Brae Burn. Some otherwise deficient amateur was just too good for him on those particular days. Both defeats came in 18-hole rounds, the abomination of all the good ones, Jones included.

The latter, in fact, was almost put out in the first round by Dick Jones, Maurice McCarthy and Ray Gorton, respectively, in the last three championships. Bobby would rather play Von Elm two 36-hole matches in as many days than take on some near-chump at the shorter distance. The latter isn't supposed to be a true test of golf.

So much for one argument against his chances at Pebble Beach. Another has to do with the claim that, in some respects, the amateur is far more definite in its consequences than is the open. For example, if you are beaten in one round of the open, you still are in the tournament. But if you lose a single round of the amateur, you are very much out. And unfortunately you stay out. All the 65's you might have in your system are useless after that, whereas they would win you the open, regardless of the 79's you might have taken the first two times out.

What Past Shows. As for precedent, this merely shows that Jones hasn't been able to hang two American championships together in a single year. In 1923, he won the open but lost the amateur; the next year, he won the amateur and lost the open by a stroke; in 1925, he won the amateur but tied for the open and was beaten in the play-off; in 1926 saw him win the British and American opens but lose the amateur this time; in 1927, he was amateur and British open champion and last year he won the amateur again but lost the open title to Farrell in another play-off.

In brief, is 1926 to repeat itself? He had the British and American open titles, then, to say nothing of a hangover title to the amateur from 1925. This time, he has another amateur "hangover" from 1928 plus the open title for 1929. It sounds rather impressive when lined up in this manner but, actually, all of it can run for our old friend Sweeney if Jones is playing his golf in September.

CONNIE NEARS 15-YEAR GOAL

If the Philadelphia Athletics don't crack as wide open as a golf pro who is trailing Bobby Jones, that 1929 American league pennant should gladden the heart of baseball's tallest and saddest sacker. Connie Mack's quest of a championship team, almost reaching that goal season after season has become one of the national game's vivid traditions.

With the present schedule passed its half-way mark, and the Athletics in front with a wealth of apparent reserve power to unleash in the home stretch, the most famous of all the McGillicuddy's has little to worry about except comparing his 1929 outfit with his team, that was "so good it had to be disbanded" back in '34.

Mack's old Athletics made winning so monotonous Philadelphia grew tired of paying to see the commonplaces. So Connie sold most of his stars both up and down baseball's rivers. And "master mind" though he is conceded to be, Connie has not been able to collect a pennant winner since until this year's machine seems destined for that honor.

Wonder how often Connie cogitates on his old stars and his new? Remember "Home Run" Baker with his climax wallows? And Eddie Collins at the zenith of second base stardom? And Dave Barry at short? And "Stuffy" McInnis? What an infield that old

Potters To Invade Chester

Pennant Rivals Resume Warfare Tonight.

INTER-CITY League contenders, facing the prospect of completing their games of the second half before August 30, will be kept pretty busy from now on.

Chester and Laughlin started things last week but there are still 29 contests remaining on the card and every week is going to be pretty well jammed, even if the league gets away as easily as it did in the first half in the matter of postponed contests.

The Katties and Chester, who wound up proceedings of the initial half, will clash tonight at Smith field, Chester.

Tomorrow night Wellsville goes to Newell. The Laughlins have three games during the week, two at home and one away.

If the brand of ball played by Laughlin and Chester Friday night at Chester when Pollock hurled a no-hit, no-run performance, and Earl Springer almost did as well with a two-hit game, is any criterion of what is to follow the second half, then some stirring events are promised for league followers.

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"

Lovable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

"But they do me," declared Vanardy emphatically. He had followed the last part of the crippl's story with great interest. "I am beginning to understand something that has puzzled me. Just one thing more. Was Parson Jim's laboratory in that part of the house which is now called the blue room?"

"I am not sure," Hollister gazed languidly into the fire. "My man could probably tell you. I haven't a very good memory for such things."

For a few moments Vanardy sat pondering what he had heard. "I am greatly indebted to you, Mr. Hollister," he murmured. "Some day I hope—"

He paused and leaped out of the chair. His glance, wandering aimlessly about the rooms, had once more fastened on the narrow space between the shade and the sill, and this time he knew that his imagination had not deceived him. For just an instant a pair of eyes and portions of a face had been flamed against the pane, and the brief glimpse had been followed by instant recognition.

"Whistle!" he muttered, a little dazedly and not quite sure that he had identified the face correctly, and then, to the crippl's amazement, he rushed from the room. With wind and rain beating against his face, he ran around the house to the window at the side. A hot, fierce rage, long repressed, flamed within him as he hurried along, manifesting itself in a burning sensation in his fingers and a desire to tighten them around the throat of the repulsive creature whose face he had glimpsed at the window.

He reached the point where the vision had appeared, but no one was there. For a time he ran around in circles, stumbling against rocks and shrubs, then realized that further pursuit would be futile, for in the darkness the other man would have no difficulty eluding him. His rage had cooled down somewhat when he rejoined the crippl beside the fireplace.

"What on earth struck you all of a sudden?" inquired Hollister.

Vanardy laughed ruefully. "I thought I saw some one at the window, some one whose face was familiar to me."

The other regarded him intently, then shook his head incredulously. "You have a very vivid imagination, Phantom. I think you need sleep to steady your nerves."

"That's a very good prescription, Mr. Hollister. If permitted, I shall be asleep in the blue room in a little while. Thanks for the information you gave me about Parson Jim."

They shook hands, and Vanardy walked out. As he set his face against the storm, turning in the direction of Tuckaway Camp, his fingers tingled unpleasantly from Hollister's limp, clammy handshake. The same sensation had come to him when they shook hands the night before. Then as now it had brought him an indescribable chill, as if he had come in contact with something from which life had flown.

"Anyhow, I've learned something," he told himself as he hurried along. "Interesting to know that Parson Jim quit the counterfeiting business because of an accident to his hand."

Culligore Receives a Shock.

The old grandfather clock in the library at Tuckaway Camp chimed the midnight hour.

At the first stroke, Stanhope stirred nervously in the chair he occupied before the fire. The cigar dropped from his trembling hand, and he reached down with his right arm to pick it up. It was a rather long reach, and the movement caused his sleeve to wrinkle back, exposing several inches of wrist. With a start he pulled the sleeve down and glanced uneasily at his companions in the room.

Nerves on edge tonight, Stanhope? drawled Harry Bell, regarding him with an amused expression. It had been apparent for several hours that the lawyer was ill at ease. "This spooky old dump is enough to give any one the jimjams, especially if something is preying on your mind."

"Just what do you mean by that?" demanded Stanhope, bristling instantly.

Bell laughed sardonically. "Nothing in particular, old top. If what I said means anything to you, just forget it. I'm a magnanimous soul; don't like to hurt anybody's feelings. Really, though, Stanhope, you ought to be like me. Life is a lot easier when you throw conscience and principles into the discard."

"I wouldn't boast of my lack of conscience if I were you," said the lawyer with dignity, having recovered a semblance of composure. "We haven't forgotten that you were alone with Craig the night he was murdered."

"There you go again!" exclaimed Bell good-humoredly. "Tell me, Stanhope, isn't it better to have no conscience at all than to have an uneasy one like yours? I leave it to you, Culligore. Which one of us looks the guiltier, Stanhope or myself?"

"You are talking rot, both of you," growled the lieutenant, getting up and beginning to pace the floor. Culligore had been in a gloomy mood ever since, about three hours ago, he telephoned police headquarters in New York and learned that the Gray Phantom had been arrested. The fact that he had been cheated out of his life's ambition, and that some one else had accomplished the capture of the celebrated rogue came as a heavy blow to the lieutenant's pride. It was all the harder to bear by reason of the fact that, since the Phantom's marvelous escape in the early morning, Culligore's last remaining doubts as to his guilt had vanished.

"Cheer up, Culligore," said Bell consolingly. "You may get your hooks into the Phantom yet. Are you sure there is no mistake about his arrest?"

"Mistake? How could there be?"

"Oh, there's always a chance for a slip-up where the Gray Phantom is concerned. Whenever you think he is there, he is somewhere else. I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see him walk in on us tonight."

"You're dippy," snorted Culligore. "If it wasn't such a bad night I'd call it a day and beat it back to New York."

"So should I," said the lawyer, after listening for a moment to the beat of rain and wind against the windows. "I can't see that there is anything more for us to accomplish here."

"We may have another mystery on our hands in the morning," Bell suggested. "One of us may be dead before daylight. You can never tell what's going to break in a place like this."

Stanhope reproved his flippancy with a stern glance. "Wish you wouldn't look at me like that," said the irrepressible Bell. "You make me almost as nervous as you are yourself. Since we can't get back to New York tonight, and since none of us seems inclined for sleep, why not have a common-sense discussion? There's something that's been bothering me all day, Culligore. Why do you suppose the Gray Phantom telephoned you this morning that he would be back here before night?"

"Search me. Anyhow, what difference does it make?"

"You've said yourself that the Gray Phantom never does anything without a good reason."

"I don't see what good it does to speculate about his reasons in this particular instance," the lawyer pointed out. "We know he is under arrest, and will not return here."

Bell lifted his brows. "That reminds me of something, Stanhope. While Culligore was at the telephone this morning you hinted that maybe William killed Craig."

The lawyer frowned. "That was just a hazy conjecture. I didn't really mean anything. You will admit, however, that William's guilt is within the range of possibilities."

"I'll admit anything," said Bell. "I'll even admit that one of us may have killed him." He laughed softly as the lawyer gave a start. "By the way, Culligore, still think the Phantom did it?"

"If the Phantom didn't, who did?"

"Well, there's one person that nobody seems to have thought of in that connection, but who is in the ordinary course of events would have been suspected at the start. As far as we know, there is only one person who profited by Craig's death, and that's the person who will be spending his money. I mean Julia Wayne, his niece."

Culligore, who had been pacing the floor, stopped abruptly. "You're crazy!" he muttered.

"I'm talking hard sense. Craig left his money to Miss Wayne because he wanted it to stay in the family and there was not other relative he could leave it to."
